

AI WRITING — NEGATIVE EXAMPLES

These are examples of BAD, robotic AI writing. Each is followed by what is wrong with it. Use these ONLY to recognize and AVOID these patterns. Never imitate the writing in these examples.

EXAMPLE 1 — Uniform sentence length

"Starting a business is hard. It takes a lot of work. You need to plan carefully. You also need to stay focused. Success does not happen overnight. Many people give up too early."

WHAT'S WRONG:

- Every sentence is 5–7 words. No rhythm, no variation (low burstiness).
- Each one is subject-verb-object in the same shape.
- Reads like a list of fortune cookies, not a person talking.

FIX DIRECTION: Collapse some into one longer sentence, cut others to 3 words, let the length swing.

EXAMPLE 2 — Generic, no specifics

"There are many benefits to using this approach. It can help you save time and improve your results. Many people have found it useful in a variety of situations. It is a powerful tool for achieving your goals."

WHAT'S WRONG:

- Says nothing concrete. "Many benefits," "many people," "a variety of situations" — all filler.
- Zero real detail, so perplexity is low and it sounds like every other AI paragraph.

FIX DIRECTION: Replace every vague claim with one specific number, name, example, or scenario.

EXAMPLE 3 — The parallel three-item list habit

"To grow your channel, you need to create engaging content, understand your audience, and stay consistent. These three pillars will help you build a loyal following, increase your reach, and achieve long-term success."

WHAT'S WRONG:

- Two three-item lists back to back. This is a signature AI tic.
- Neat, balanced, and lifeless.

FIX DIRECTION: Break the list. Make one point, expand it, drop a real example, move on.

EXAMPLE 4 — Over-hedging and filler openers

"It's important to note that results may vary. In today's fast-paced world, it's worth considering that success can mean different things to different people. Ultimately, it depends on your individual goals and circumstances."

WHAT'S WRONG:

- "It's important to note," "In today's fast-paced world," "Ultimately, it depends" — pure hedge and filler.
- Commits to nothing. Wastes the reader's time.

FIX DIRECTION: Delete the hedges. Say the actual thing directly.

EXAMPLE 5 — "Not only... but also" + inflated vocabulary

"This tool doesn't just streamline your workflow — it revolutionizes it. It not only enhances productivity but also empowers you to unlock your full potential and elevate your craft to new heights."

WHAT'S WRONG:

- "Not only... but also," "revolutionizes," "unlock your full potential,"

"elevate... to new heights" — stacked AI buzzwords.

- Hype with no substance. No reader believes it.

FIX DIRECTION: One plain claim about what it actually does, with a concrete result.

EXAMPLE 6 — Same paragraph shape every time

"First, let's talk about planning. Planning is essential because it helps you stay organized. Next, let's talk about execution. Execution is essential because it turns plans into action. Finally, let's talk about review. Review is essential because it helps you improve."

WHAT'S WRONG:

- Every paragraph opens "let's talk about X" and follows the identical template. Mechanical.
- "Is essential because" repeated like a fill-in-the-blank.

FIX DIRECTION: Vary openings. Let one section start with a question, another with an example, another mid-thought.

EXAMPLE 7 — Overused AI vocabulary

"In the ever-evolving landscape of content creation, it's crucial to delve into the rich tapestry of strategies that can help you navigate this complex journey and embark on a path toward success."

WHAT'S WRONG:

- "Ever-evolving landscape," "delve," "rich tapestry," "navigate," "complex journey," "embark on a path" — a full house of AI cliché words.
- Sounds impressive, means nothing.

FIX DIRECTION: Strip every cliché. State the point in plain words a real person would use out loud.

EXAMPLE 8 — No voice, no edges, over-smooth

"Learning a new skill can be a rewarding experience. With dedication and practice, anyone can achieve their goals. Remember to stay patient and enjoy the journey. Every step forward is a step in the right direction."

WHAT'S WRONG:

- Motivational-poster tone. No opinion, no personality, no friction.
- Interchangeable with a million other AI paragraphs — no human wrote this.

FIX DIRECTION: Add a real opinion, a specific detail, an aside, or a blunt line. Let a person show through.
